“ Carmella was the sweetest lady and a wonderful neighbor. We shared a 4' fence, and I would plant flowers all along it, vining flowers that would grow all over it. Carmella would tend the flowers on her side; she loved flowers. She used to bring me plants from the church plant sale to plant in my yard, facing her house of course. She was very observant of what I planted throughout the front and back yards, would note the color schemes and types, and enjoyed sitting on their front porch just admiring the flowers in all of the yards. She and Bill spent a lot of time on that front porch, with a cold drink, chatting to the neighbors and keeping an eye on things. We treasured them as neighbors, and will greatly miss Carmella. Everyone should be so lucky.
