“ I worked with Dave at the Carpenter Training Center. Dave had a heart of gold and was the salt of the earth. He always had a smile and a joke and a laugh. It was a real pleasure to work with him and we'll miss him at the training center. I'm very sorry for your loss. My prayers are with his family.

“Dave was such a great person, friend and neighbor. I will always treasure the memories I have with him from the girls' dance recitals, camping trips, neighborhood gatherings, and work projects. He was always there to share his expertise and help any neighbor with a project, big or small. I was glad to have been able to spend some time with him the last couple weeks when he helped me with a small project. His sense of humor and wit will never be forgotten. I always liked when he asked for those special tools like the "snew", "up doc" and "madda-u". Always waiting for someone to say "What's _____?" I will truly miss his presence and look forward to the time we meet again. My thoughts and prayers are with Diane, Lisa, and Aimee. All your neighbors and friends are here for you. May Dave rest in piece!

“Having grown up next to the DiBiase family I have many happy memories of David. As kids we all would go sled riding across the street, sledding right into the road at times. We were blessed to have David use his talents on our pool deck and our basement. It was always a fun time with him and his Dad tinkering down in the garage. The giant puzzle they made, boat work, and so many other great moments. Being neighbors definitely has it's perks. Eternal Rest to you ole neighbor. Prayers of peace to the DiBiase Family at this time.

“ I started working with Dave about 4 years ago at the Carpenters Training Center where I took upgrade classes that he was teaching. Teaching was just one of his many talents. He brought his many real life experiences into the classroom that validated the material he was teaching. Carpentry was another one of his talents. He was a true Craftsman. From the dirt to the drapes, there was no part he couldn't do. Everything he built was built with a sense of pride behind it and he pushed his students to have the same. He was an artist with an eye for detail. He designed and built many of the training models that we use in the classroom today. He used these models to show how things were built and how they worked. Working in the classroom next to his he would always pop his head in and throw out a light hearted one-liner like "too easy". We lost a meticulous craftsman, a highly intelligent instructor, a witty colleague, and a friend. My wife and I are praying for the family with heavy hearts.

“ In the short five years that i worked with Dave, i really came to enjoy his good heart, his continued laughter and upbeat attitude. He brought a smile to my face every morning which shall leave a void for me every day i go to work.

May the grace and love of our lord Jesus Christ be with the Dibiase family every day Dave is not

You will truly be missed but not forgotten

Diane and Girls,

I just recently heard of Dave's passing. I am so sorry.

We were apprentices, together, working for John Deklewa and Sons. Often we drove to work together. He was truly a friend. He was a great co-worker and an excellent, excellent, carpenter. Most of us have to learn the trade...I think he was born knowing it !

He was very smart. If I recall correctly, I think he finished first in his apprentice class. He was a blast to work with, because his humor was always there, but the work always got done on a timely fashion. When he became a superintendent, he was an absolute pleasure to work for. I'm sure the Carpenters' Union knew they had a great guy when they hired him as an instructor. He was such a great fit. Not only was he a great tradesman...he was patient, enthusiastic, and was sincerely always interested. Over the years we worked for different employers, and to an extent, lost touch. When the Carpenters had their Christmas parties, we generally found each other and sat together for the evening.

Diane, I will truly miss Dave. His genuineness, some of the "trick of the trade" that he taught me, and that sense of humor, will never be forgotten.

He has by now probably replaced the hinges on the "Heavenly Gates" and is probably designing a new latch too.

Dave's old friend,

John Valdiserri
