The waves taint rough a’tall...!”

“ Laddie and David our condolences to your family during this time of sorrow. So quick to smile, to tell a joke or a story of past experiences Dad will be missed by so many that knew him. His presence will always be with you and the grief you feel now in his passing will lessen with time but the memories you share with each other and with your families will keep him with you forever. May you find comfort in knowing that so many others share your loss with you and may you find solace in having so many of your family close for mutual support.

“ Laddie was our neighbor up on the hill. My husband and I moved to our home 17 years ago across the field from Laddie and I remember meeting him for the first time and thinking wow, this guy is huge. Then he started talking and immediately I felt as if he was a "gentle giant". He has told my husband and I some wonderful stories of his family and his adventures hunting and always made us laugh. He was a true family man and his children were his most precious joy and he has always been so proud of them. We are just going to miss him so much! He would drive by our home when he was going out and always honked his horn or waved that big arm of his out his window. We love ya Laddie and you will be in our hearts forever....we are going to miss you so much....

“ lad became a special friend of mine one very rainy day Oct. 10, 1986 when I encountered him deep in the woods of the Clearwater National Forest, Idaho. From that day forward I and my camp mates yearned to be together with Lad and hunt Elk. For many years we met at our favorite camping site and hunting area. Lad's genuine engaging personality, unique story telling talents and his vitality and love of life has given all that knew him lasting memories that only Lad could create. With his long legs and stamina it seemed like he got through the woods better than the deer. On the other hand, Lad would tell of the time late one night he found the road and thought he had found God. Lad has given us so many memories and so many stories that we retell each year at Elk camp and each year the story is better than before. There will be no other to compare to Lad, though Lad Jr. seems to be a partial clone. We have enjoyed Lad so much and have been so enriched by the quality of his close friend Cliff Foster. We admire the quality of his two sons, Lad Jr. and Dave and we know Lad's two sons became such fine quality men because of their father. Now we know the grandsons and they too are the progeny of a family to admire.
