“ Karen,

*I am so sorry to hear about Bob's accident, and we are so sorry that we could not be there for any services. We left for California the same day as Bob's accident and didn't come home till the 19th. Robbie stopped at the house today and told us. We were devastated and couldn't believe it. I can't even begin to think of what you are going through right now. Everyone says, think of all the memories that you have. Memories don't fill that void in your life, and keep you company at night. Unfortunately you have been through this before and you know that you never get over the loss. You will move on, but things will never be the same. Life has changed forever. But we serve a God that will reunited us one day with those that we love. We just need to get through one more day, till tomorrow, and then just one more day till the next day. I have many memories of past years. We had fun, didn't we. Much younger and I'm afraid not very wise back then. It's a wonder we survived as long as we have. I last saw Bob at the hospital a couple years ago. He was moving somebody's office, again. It seems like he was always moving somebody. He always smiled and was so pleasant. A great person and a good friend to Ron. I know everyone says this, call me if you need anything. But please do. I am retired and would love to go to lunch, talk, or just listen. You have my prayers and sympathy.
Love and Prayers,
Ron and Sue*

PS. I have never written an online condolence so I hope you get this. I don't have an address or a phone number.
